Information:

The C1000-1W column cap is designed for a durable and aesthetically pleasing finish for indoor columns. Made from ProFoam material, it boasts high resistance to moisture, UV radiation, and minor mechanical damage. Ready for installation, it requires only the use of an appropriate mounting adhesive, without the need for specialized tools. The factory-finished white color allows for easy integration into various designs; the surface is suitable for painting with solvent-free paints after proper priming. This solution is dedicated to decorative applications in residential and commercial spaces.
